13 Graduate at Grammar School Here

Steps that Brought Liberty Hailed in Program at Exercises Tomorrow

Thirteen pupils of the Sierra Madre grammar school will say farewell to old associations there tomorrow afternoon, January 29. They are members of the mid-season graduating class. The graduation exercises featuring a team with patriotism, "Documents of Liberty Enlighten the World" is the theme, the subjects assigned the graduates being the steps that brought democracy and freedom, while the musical numbers with a single exception are the nation's great soul-stirring patriotic songs, beginning with the National Anthem. The exception is the concluding number on the program, the "Sierra Madre School Song," to be sung by the graduates, chorus and audience, accompanied by the orchestra.

'Chuck' Shippey Was in Tarawa Battle

The Lee Shippeys, 297 Nehr dr., were very happy to receive word this week from their son, "Chuck," through a telephone call from a buddy of his, now home on leave from the Solomons. The friend told them that he and "Chuck" were in on the bloody Tarawa fight in which so many lives were lost in landing, and had seen two other major battles, and that "Chuck" was well and in good spirits when he left the battlefield.

To the People of this Community

YOU ARE IMPORTANT

There is no such thing as a "little" investment in the Fourth War Loan.

Your $25 or $50 or $100 Extra War Bond may not have great importance in your mind in making up a 5 1/2 percent dollar total for individuals.

But multiply yourself by 30,000,000 and then you see in real perspective how truly great each citizen becomes in making up national strength against the Nazis and the Japs.

Capt. Maurice Witherspoon, Navy chaplain aboard the Carrier Wasp when the sank, tells of a rescued wounded sailor, who, as he regained consciousness, asked: "Did I do my best?"

That's the only question you, too, have to ask yourself when you decide the extent of your personal participation in the Fourth War Loan.

There undoubtedly will be large single purchases of War Bonds in this community, but yours—if it is "your best"—will deserve equally the red, white and blue shield you are privileged to display in the window of your home.

So "Let's All Back the Attack."

THE EDITOR.

Wishing Won't Help

A few weeks ago Lieutenant Commander "Butch" O'Hare, the flyer who tumbled five Jap planes out of the sky in one day, vanished in the Pacific while trying to send more fighters of the Son of Heaven "down to earth."

More recently, Major Gregory Boyington, one of America's three all-time "Ace of Aces," with 26 Jap skywagons notched on his gun, followed O'Hare into the land of silence.

When we read of these men we feel as if something within us dies with them. We think—if there were only something I could have done to save them.

Wishing doesn't help. But we can do much to protect those who are still carrying on. Putting every last cent we can spare into War Bonds is one way of doing it. We must buy Bonds not only to supply ammunition and equipment for the O'Hares and Boyingtons still fighting "out there," but to prevent inflation so that these men will not have to come back to a country laid low by economic chaos which inflation would create. Thousands of O'Hares and Boyingtons—America's finest young men—have invested their lives in victory. Certainly we can invest our dollars.

AMERICAN-BORN JAPANESE PROVED LOYALTY IN HAWAII, SAYS LOCAL ENGINEER

Responsible for Impregnable Defenses of Islands, Says Remington Stone

Americans of Japanese descent were chiefly responsible for rebuilding the defenses of the Hawaiian Islands, and for preparing the way for our offense against Japanese-held islands in the Pacific, Remington Stone of 321 E. Grand View ave., Sierra Madre, assistant to the Army deputy district engineer for the central Pacific area, told the Los Angeles Lawyers' Guild at its meeting last week.

Returning to California after 22 months' work in supervising the construction of Hawaiian defenses, Stone, a civilian assistant for the Army engineers, described to the Lawyers' Guild the rebuilding of fortifications destroyed by the Japanese militarists. "On December 12 after Pearl Harbor it was factiously said that 12 men in a row boat could have taken the islands. Now the entire Japanese navy would be welcome," Stone explained. "This is the difference between December and the present. A large part of the work was due to, and would have been impossible without, the large portion of these people of Japanese ancestry."

Stone disclosed that of the Hawaiian Islands' population of 425,000, a total of 37 per cent are persons of Japanese ancestry—approximately 123,000 of whom are American citizens and 37,000 aliens who are ineligible for citizenship.

"These people were and are concentrated in the most important U. S. military base in the world where they had all possible opportunity of sabotage and opposition to the military," Stone declared.

"The record of these Americans of Japanese ancestry is important as anything in our generation as the finest example of Americans in action, especially taken in contrast with what happened on the West Coast," Stone stated. He explained that the FBI, the Military Intelligence and the police report that no sabotage was committed on the Hawaiian Islands by Americans of Japanese ancestry either before, during or after Pearl Harbor, and that all rumors of such sabotage were found to have no foundation in fact.

"Most of the civilians killed or wounded at Pearl Harbor were Americans of Japanese ancestry, as the chief civilian bombing took place near their homes," Stone revealed. He told of American soldiers of Japanese ancestry capturing the first Jap prisoner taken in Hawaii and of an American welder of Japanese ancestry working 72 hours without stopping to weld back pipe lines burst by the bombs.

"These Americans of Japanese ancestry bought more war bonds per capita in proportion to their earnings than any other group. All the young men volunteered for the combat unit," Stone explained. "If the entire U. S. had as many volunteers in proportion to our population as were found among these Japanese-Americans, we would now have a U. S. Army made up of eight million volunteers."

Stone attributed the successful handling of the "Japanese problem" in the Hawaiian Islands to: (1) a comparative lack of hysteria on the part of the general population, (2) the cooperation of newspapers in "busting" false rumors and (3) the positive leadership of a level-headed general. Commanding General Emmons who was commanding general of the Hawaiian Islands after Pearl Harbor, is now commanding general of the western defense command, which includes California.

Only a small fraction of one per cent of the Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands, both citizens and enemy aliens, were interned after Pearl Harbor, Stone explained.

"Authorities found that it was

Forger Held for Trial February 7

Eighteen-year-old Edward Leon Remme played no favorites during the 40-day days in which he was busy engaged in the dangerous business of a forger and distributed bad checks in and around the San Gabriel Valley with a free hand. A dozen business men and store employees appeared against him when he was arraigned in Pasadena justice court last Thursday afternoon. While most of them were proprietors or checkers of markets, there were a few lawyers and other tradesmen among his victims.

A. C. Mansell, Pasadena city detective, testified that Remme had admitted passing more than a hundred forged checks on which he realized more than $2000. In almost every instance he signed the names of "Mrs. H. C. Morgan" or "Mrs. B. Dubois" to the checks, endorsing them and representing himself to be John Leavitt. He had found a wallet containing a Selective Service card and other effects of a John Leavitt in a Phoenix, Ariz. garage while en route to Los Angeles from St. Paul, Minn. He used these to "prove" his identity when questioned.

When questioned concerning the persons whose names he signed to the checks he said they were relatives, always insisting that "Mrs. Dubois" was his grandmother.

Without exception tradesmen testified that he had not only gotten away with cash given him in change for his bad checks, but with merchandise as well. Appearing against him from Sierra Madre was Mrs. Harold Roberts of Roberts market, who was responsible for his identification and arrest; Beverly Woods, a checker from Roess market, and W. H. Ingraham of the Sierra Madre Savings Bank, the latter merely testifying that the bank had no account with the persons whose

"Axis Better Not Use Gas," Says Sierra Madre Man in Camp

"The Axis had better not resort to the use of gas. If they do they'll get it back tenfold... and then some," says Cpl. Robert M. Tarr of Sierra Madre in a letter to P. L. Bonobake from Camp Sibert, Ala., to which he has just been transferred for advanced training in chemical warfare. "This is the only camp of its kind in the world," the corporal's letter continues. "The Axis has nothing to compare with it. I don't like gas, but if they start using it I'm sure they'll be mighty sorry and wish they hadn't. I can't tell you what I'd like to, but after the war is over you'll see what I mean."

A paragraph of his letter is given over to praise of a new rifle—"the latest thing," that has just been issued him. "And it is a beauty," he says. "If I don't make tops next time I fire for the record it will be my fault." He likes Camp Sibert... says the barracks, mess halls and conveniences are better and the altitude is greater and he feels swell though kept pretty busy.

Pupils Here Graduate in Pasadena

Seven Sierra Madre students at Wilson Jr. High school will receive their diplomas at the mid-season graduation exercises at 7:30 Friday evening. An even dozen local students of the lower division at Pasadena Junior College will receive their diplomas at the same time.

The P.J.C. graduates are Sydney Brock, Jean A. Brooks, Barbara Mae Brown, Elizabeth J. Clougherty, Donald E. Fairbanks, Robert H. Fletcher, Richard G. Jenkins, Theresa C. Kays, Betty Jean Schraeder, Thomas A. Schwartz and Goodrich R. and William Simons.

Graduating from Wilson High are John Buchan, Robert Best, Carol Fisher, Margaret Gerke, Ann Hamilton, Fred Kinkle and David Steward.

Rev. Frederic Groetsena of Sierra Madre's Congregational Church will deliver the invocation at the Wilson graduation exercises.

Bill Burdick of the Oaks is the lone local midseason graduate at Monrovia high school.

names Remme used in checks drawn on that bank. Other witnesses appeared from Pasadena, Glendale and other cities.

Remme was held for trial in the Superior court on February 7, being held meanwhile under $2500 bail.

Surgical Dressing Workers to Start on New Schedule

For the next two weeks or until further notice, the local Red Cross surgical dressings unit will work only on Wednesdays from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. The chairman urges all who possibly can do so, to report for work on that day.

Boys in the Service

Capt. C. F. Wagner of the Medical Corps, stationed "somewhere in Australia," in a recent letter to his wife and tiny daughter Joan, 3 1/2, and son Richard, 2, of 144 Lowell st., tells how elated he was over his seven-day furlough in Sydney.

Transferred to the Army air base at Maxton, N. C., following his graduation as a paratrooper at Ft. Benning, Ga., Pvt. Hershel Williams has sent his diploma home to his mother and another highly prized souvenir of his graduation to the girl friend here. "That diploma is really something to be proud of," he wrote his mother. "It took quite a bit to earn it—that's why I'm so proud of it." Incidentally he likes the new camp a lot... it is more modern and cheerful.

Pvt. Raymond Sanchez, stationed at Camp Phillips, Salinas, Kans., returned to his post Monday after enjoying a seven-day furlough with his wife and baby son at their home, 163 N. Grove st. Pvt. Sanchez grew up in Sierra Madre, graduating from its school and having attended Wilson Junior High School.

With Sierra Madre

Seaman 2/c Howard Geller was home from the San Diego Naval base to visit mother, Mrs. George Geller of E. Montecito ave.

Lt. (jg) Stanton E. Waddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Waddell Jr. of 425 Canon ave., still "somewhere in England," tries to make effective every flying mission of the Naval Liberator. Following his letter written on New Year's Day, came a package to his sister Jean. Referring to the metal ring which it contained, Lt. Waddell assured her that he would have a particularly interesting story to tell about it when he gets back. This metal clip is of the type that is removed when a bomb is released.

Mrs. Fred E. Long of 639 E. Orange Grove ave., hears from her son Frederick, "somewhere in the Pacific" on an average of twice monthly. His most recent letter says that though he came out of the battle at Bougainville without a scratch, he is at present in a rest camp.

Harold J. Stitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold I. Stitt of 261 N. Sunnyside ave., reports

PHIL BANCROFT

Phil Bancroft, Central California farmer who was a candidate six years ago, is the first Republican to announce himself a candidate for the G.O.P. nomination for United States Senator to succeed Sheridan Downey, Democrat, whose successor will be elected this year. Bancroft lost to Downey in a close contest in 1939. It is generally believed Justus Craemer, Orange county publisher and chairman of the California Railroad Commission, will also seek the Republican nomination. There has never been any doubt about Downey seeking another term, but he has not made any announcement of his candidacy as yet.

Names of Blood Bank Donors Wanted

Dr. John L. Woehler, local Red Cross blood donor chairman, requests that all Sierra Madreans who have given blood outside of the mobile blood bank in Sierra Madre, notify the local Red Cross headquarters. Proper credit may thus be given the donor and the information be complete for the permanent record.

Official Would Have Complete Authority Over People During Emergency

An ordinance amending the Civilian Defense setup in Sierra Madre by creating a Citizens Defense Corps and a Citizens War Services Corps was finally passed by the city council Tuesday evening.

Appointment is provided of a Commander of the Defense Corps who would supersede the city government and have complete authority over the population during times of great emergency.

The ordinance says that "during a state of extreme emergency" during the war "the Commander shall exercise complete executive authority over the city government, its personnel, inhabitants and property, including power during such times to issue and enforce rules, regulations and orders which he considers necessary for the preservation of life and property."

Text of the ordinance will be found on page five of this issue of the Sierra Madre News. Its avowed purpose is to bring members of the civilian defense organization within the protection afforded by compensation insurance in the event of death or injury in the performance of public service. It would be automatically repealed by cessation of hostilities.

Kinda Cool

Sierra Madreans shivered yesterday morning when the temperature dropped to the lowest point of the winter shortly before daybreak. There was a sharp drop following light showers Sunday that left a trifle less than half an inch of moisture here below, but spread a mantle of snow several inches deep over the higher peaks above the city. Wind sweeping cold air from the snow fields over the city held the temperature under 60 ever since. Temperatures for the week have been:

Petitions Office of Defense Transportation for Operating Gasoline

Responding to a petition signed by more than 700 residents urging that it take all possible steps looking to the establishment of bus service within the city limits of Sierra Madre, the city council Tuesday evening voted unanimously to petition the Office of Defense Transportation to grant W. R. Story a supply of gasoline sufficient to operate a bus over a route to be decided upon on an hourly schedule.

Carrying the council's action into effect Mayor John Froehlich immediately forwarded a letter to ODT acquainting it with conditions here and urging that it make operation of the bus service possible by making gasoline available. In his letter the mayor pointed out that operation of the bus would allow many privately owned cars to remain in garages, so that, in the long run, the service would actually conserve precious gasoline.

No definite route has been agreed upon for the proposed service. Tentative route proposed extends a little more than six miles, starting from the Pacific Electric station, east on Sierra Madre blvd. to Mt. Trail ave., to Sturtevant dr. and east over the hill around to Woodland dr. and return to Mt. Trail, to Grand View ave., thence west past the grammar school to Sunnyside ave., to Sierra Madre blvd., then looping the southwest section of the city.

After advising ODT of the council's action the letter of Mayor Froehlich continued:

"The foregoing action by the City Council was prompted not only by said petition, but also because the City of Sierra Madre covers a considerable area; a large number of its inhabitants are elderly people unable to walk from their respective places of residence to the shopping area of the city, and therefore are compelled to ask relatives and friends to use their autos on shopping tours, all of which requires gasoline. The members of the city council feel that a considerable saving of gasoline will be made by the operation of the proposed bus system, which will serve practically all sections of Sierra Madre, thus enabling citizens to personally secure their groceries, meats and other household necessities, as all food stores and meat markets of the city of Sierra Madre are no longer delivering merchandise to buyers.

"There are also a considerable number of war workers in Sierra Madre who have difficulty in their transportation problems through the lack of a taxi or bus system properly equipped to take care of their needs.

"There are certain sections of the City of Sierra Madre which are practically without any adequate transportation. The city council feels that if Mr. Story is granted sufficient gasoline by you for his needs, the bus line to be operated by him will properly serve these sections so that to a large extent the bus system will eliminate the use of a considerable number of private automobiles for the above purposes."

Railway Business Here in '43 Showed Huge Increase

Travel, freight and express business originating in the Sierra Madre station of the Southern Pacific and the Pacific Electric Railway companies increased steadily throughout 1943 so that December's record-breaking volume brought the total far ahead of any year since 1929, according to N. F. Graham, local stationmaster. Every branch of the business of the two companies showed marked increases comparable with those shown by the local postoffice. It was considered quite remarkable that the freight and express should increase so markedly with the reduction in available consumer goods due to the war. The gross December business was more than six times that of December 1942.

Offer Cash Prizes in Poetry Contest

"Now them prizes down," today urged Dr. L. E. Nelson of the University of Redlands as he invited California poets to go gunning for the $175 offered in the 1944 Browning awards.

Last year there were a thousand contestants in the adult, high school and junior high school divisions. Contestants are limited to one poem and winning poems will be read over a nationwide radio hookup on April 12.

War Bonds Donated to Home in Memory of the Late Mrs. Rose Snell

A large gathering of friends met Sunday afternoon at the British Old People's Home on the occasion of presentation of War Bonds to the endowment fund of the home, as a tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Rose Snell. The money was raised through the efforts of the John Ruskin Chapter, D.B.E. Dr. J. Andrew Hall opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. A. E. Pulling, regent, introduced Mrs. R. M. Stevens of Los Angeles, State president of the Daughters of the British Empire.

Dean Arnold Bode was then called upon to speak of Mrs. Rose Snell, a much loved member of the chapter. The Dean said he first met Mrs. Snell 12 or 13 years ago. She was the daughter of a remarkable forward-looking minister, Rev. R. M. Webster, at one time of El Monte, whose little book, "The Good News Which Jesus Preached" shows whence came the inspiration for his daughter's beautiful life. The good news was the news of a kingdom of heaven on earth. "In my church," the Dean said, "there is an instruction which says: 'My duty is to follow Christ... and to work for the spread of his kingdom.' Rose Snell in her quiet way, in her conversation, in her encouragement of just causes, in her study of facts, always worked for that justice and goodwill which help the spread of the

Insight Into Work
at Grammar School

The girls' glee club of the grammar school gave the Kiwanis Club an insight into its meeting yesterday of the program at the midseason graduation exercises tomorrow which will outline the work the graduating class has been doing in its social studies, during which it has covered man's progress in the development of his individual freedom from ancient to modern times.

Marvel Roberts, class president, spoke of "The Heritage of the Ages" and Lois Faller of "The Hope of the Future," after which Miss Roberts presented the club to sing "The Lord's Prayer," by Albert Jay Alotta, Grace Bawden conducting.

Phyllis Jean Lentz sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and 6-year-old Gwendolyn Griffith played two violin solos, "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak, and "Some Day My Prince Will Come" from "Snow White." The glee club concluded with the "Poem" by Fitch, and "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" from "Oklahoma," with Phyllis Jean Lentz singing the solo parts.

Wedding Bells

Wedding bells will be ringing early in the spring for Eleanor Schultz, graduate nurse of St. Luke's Hospital, and Jules Matthysens, who resides at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. Vanderbrooke of 180 Adams ave. Mr. Matthysens, honorably discharged from the Army over six months ago, met his fiancée last summer while she was attending Dan Ruscher, former Sierra Madre police officer, who was shot by a demented youth.

Mr. Matthysens, a bachelor, arrived in the United States in 1930 from Antwerp, Belgium, with the Vanderbrooke family. They resided in New York until the summer of 1941, when they came to Sierra Madre.

Girl Scout Notes

The Sierra Madre Council of Girl Scouts held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ross Marshall, 226 Olivera pl., January 20, when summer programs were discussed and a resolution to support the Kiwanis "Six Point Summer Program" for Sierra Madre boys and girls was adopted. It was reported that the troops were all increasing their membership. Members attending were Mmes. Sam Haskins, S. E. Peterson, J. J. O'Connor, Ralph E. Valencia, L. E. Webster, Frank Spencer, Raymond D. Andrews, Noreen Eaton, Steve O'Donnell and H. S. Downing.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. J. O'Connor, 473 W. Orange ave., at 8 o'clock, February 17. Troop No. 3 held its weekly meeting at the Congregational Church Friday afternoon. Mrs. Noreen Eaton and Mrs. Harry Lange were in charge. Two new officers were elected, Teresa Cole, treasurer, and Mignon Darma, secretary. The girls are working for second class rank. New members added to this troop since the fall opening are Helen Barela, Patty Ann Warren, Wynne Scheppe, Mignon Darma, Lois Baetz and Mary Ann Reynolds.—CATHERINE M. DOW, DING, Publicity Chairman.

Woman's Society to Discuss India

The Woman's Society of the Congregational Church will meet for a day of sewing next Tuesday at 10 a.m. There will be a short business session at 1:30 p.m. in charge of Miss Frances Yeomans, assisted by Mrs. Clara Jacobsen. A continuation of the study of India, which was introduced at the last meeting, will be considered, the topic of this day being "India, an Economic Paradox." Ladies will bring their own lunch and coffee will be served.

Club Changes Date
for Dinner Party

To avoid a conflict with another community event scheduled for Monday evening, February 14, the Woman's Club at its January meeting yesterday voted to change the date for its St. Valentine's day dinner from November 14 to Saturday evening, February 12. The Sierra Madre Garden Club had announced its February meeting for St. Valentine's day. The Woman's Club dinner is for members and their families. Following a business meeting of the club yesterday, Mrs. Gus Rihard entertained with a program of songs, after which tea was served, Mrs. M. A. Copps acting as tea chairman.

There was a large attendance and many fine reports were given by the chairmen. Lucile Pickett, war activities chairman, reported 347 hours of war work accomplished by members.

Past President Helene Smith reported on the activities of her unit at Santa Barbara. They have a membership of over 200. The next meeting will be held tonight, January 27, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Minnie Stinman, 257 W. Laurel ave., with Ornelia Stinman as co-hostess.—MAYBELLE C. BARKEY, Press Chairman.

AIMED AT INFLATION

By RALPH H. TAYLOR
(Executive Secretary, Agricultural Council of California)

There are heartening indications in Congress of a mounting revolt against the reckless, bureaucratic "spend and spend, tax and tax" philosophy, which has heretofore been excused on the ground of national emergency, but which can be tolerated no longer if the American people are to escape liquidation at the hands of their own government officials.

During recent days, there have been two hard-hitting indictments of unbridled governmental extravagance and needlessly severe tax demands of Federal agencies.

The powerful House Ways and Means Committee, with Democrats and Republicans both signing the report, condemned the new ten-billion-dollar tax program of the Administration as "exaggerated" and unnecessary—and said that the two-billion-dollar tax bill, as approved by the committee, is all that "can reasonably be borne by the taxpayers at this time." And it rebuked spending agencies in Washington, which have sought to justify higher taxes as a brake on inflation, by declaring that strict government economy would be a far stronger weapon against inflation than trying to "siphon off all excess purchasing power through taxation."

"The time has come," said a special report, signed by Republican members of the House committee, "when henceforth the Administration, instead of insisting upon squeezing more and more taxes out of the public should at long last be giving some concern to the elimination of unnecessary and wasteful expenditures." And this group cited as "abundant evidence of the fact that the government cannot spend the amount previously estimated" the action of the War Department recently in turning back to the Treasury some 13 billion dollars.

The second attack on governmental extravagance came only a few days later when the Byrd joint congressional committee on non-essential government spending, which charged that its recommendations for the reduction of swollen government payrolls have been largely disregarded. Renewing its demand that 300,000 unneeded employees be lopped off Federal payrolls, the Byrd committee sharply warned: "Should this second request be disregarded, the committee will believe it necessary to recommend legislation to Congress which will make reductions in Federal civilian employment mandatory."

Senator Byrd, chairman of the committee then specified, so that there could be no misunderstanding, where drastic personnel reductions could be made without damage to the war effort or to any essential governmental service.

A total of 35,000 employees, reported Senator Byrd, can and should be eliminated from the Works Projects Administration, National Youth Administration, Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, Farm Security Administration, Civilian Conservation Corps, Bituminous Coal Consumers' Counsel, National Resources Planning Board, Board of Legal Examiners and the domestic branch of the Office of War Information.

Other recommended reductions included 150,000 clerical, administrative and fiscal employees of the War Department; 100,000 Federal employees of all classes to be eliminated by better personnel management and elimination of duplicating functions among agencies, and 15,000 whose services would become unnecessary, the report said, through unification of lending agencies in the Agricultural Department.

As a result of an earlier report by the Byrd committee, turning the spotlight on padded payrolls of the government, it was pointed out that the government's civilian roll had been cut from 3,094,463 in June to 2,964,405 in September.

Girls Will Boost Ambulance Fund at Penny Carnival

Camp Fire Girls all over America are working and saving to buy a U. S. Ambulance plane that will be used to save the lives of service men wounded in front-line battles. One hundred and ten thousand dollars is the amount needed and each group is trying for at least one $18.75 F series War Bond.

Sierra Madre Camp Fire Girls have planned a penny plane carnival and invite every boy and girl, grown-ups too, to come to their carnival in the grammar school cafeteria at 3:30, February 9 and, while having a good time, help with the buying of the plane. It will cost but a penny or two to enjoy the game in each booth.

Joan Young was elected president at a recent meeting of the Odako group of Camp Fire Girls at a recent meeting. Other officers elected were Sylvia Young, vice-president; Gertrude Oakley, secretary; Carol Pierson, treasurer; Dorothy Oakley, song leader; Audrey Dempsey and Nan Hatheway, speakers, and Lois Calhoun, scribe.

A Record Breaking Play Here Soon

EDDIE NUGENT

"Junior Miss," the comedy that has been called the hippest hit of them all, is coming to Pasadena Civic Auditorium after New York and Chicago runs and subsequent tour that have made theatrical history. After 720 performances in New York, six months in Chicago, three months in Boston and two months in San Francisco, a California tour of the smash hit was arranged by Ware-Hazleton, Pasadena impresarios, which brings "Junior Miss" to Pasadena Monday, February 7.

Patricia Reardon, made a star overnight in her first Broadway role as the youthful miss who tries to make life as interesting as it is in the movies, will play the part of Judy Graves. Lois Wilson, popular star of the silent films, and Eddie Nugent, seasoned actor, will take the roles of the harassed parents who barely survive the impact of Judy's and her friend Fluffy's unrepressed ideas.

Produced by Max Gordon, "Junior Miss" was written by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields who "rang the bell" as co-authors of "My Sister Eileen."

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

Because the fire call of January 12 was for a brush fire in the mountains, much excitement was caused by an extra call issued for the Forest Fire Fighters' Organization. After the Forestry men were called, it was found that they were not needed as the fire was well under control. Several of the forestry men had already been on the job and accomplished much in preventing a serious mountain fire. Although there has been some discussion as to whether the "five call" should have been sent out, it might be said, "it is better to be safe than to be sorry." The cause of the fire is still unknown, but all appearances would indicate that a lighted match or some other burning article was carelessly thrown from the trail by a passerby.

The interest and enthusiasm with which the men of the Hawks' manufactory has "set up shop" in conjunction with the fire department, cannot go without recognition. So wrapped up in the work and so interested are they that the only complaint that has been heard from any of them is that the 9 o'clock curfew startles them. Mrs. Hawks has difficulty in assuring Dick that it is not a fire alarm. The fellows are all young enough to carry on as firemen for a long time. In this we are very, very fortunate for Sierra Madre.

Better Get it Now

The average California autoist apparently is so preoccupied with his worries about whether there'll be any gas at the neighborhood station when he makes his next call there that the mere matter of a 1944 license for the old bus has slipped his mind completely. We have that on the authority of the chap who should know, Gordon

H. Garland, director of the State Motor Vehicle Department, who reports that nearly 2,000,000 vehicle owners have thus far failed to file applications for their 1944 licenses. This year windshield stickers will replace license tags, but motor vehicle speaking, it adds up to the same thing. If you don't apply for your new tags on or before February 4, a motor cop will tag you—and then you'll pay double!

A Healthy Sign

The Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, in the Mediterranean area, announces what seems to be a revolutionary change in policy—the elimination of pin-up girl pictures and less sport coverage to make room for more news of home-front issues and international affairs. The daring departure, furthermore, has been accomplished without complaint from the paper's readers, according to Sergeant David Golding, who has been sent home by Stars and Stripes to cover developments in the national capital.

Sergeant-Reporter Golding doesn't intimate that after a stretch overseas the boys lose all interest in close-ups of Hollywood glamour girls, but he does indicate that men actually on the fighting fronts are inclined to take a much more serious interest in what goes on at home. Stars and Stripes, as a consequence, intends to devote considerable space to reporting legislative and administrative moves on the soldier vote, on mustering-out-pay for service men and women and on plans to provide post-war employment.

"The boys over there are not interested in politics as politics right now," reports Golding. "But I can tell you they are going to be plenty, sore if they don't get to vote!"

We're glad that Stars and Stripes is planning to cover the Washington scene rather fully. It is not only a healthy sign, so far as our fighting men are concerned, but it may also have a healthy influence in the national capital when it becomes known that day-by-day Washington developments are being cabled to the men on the battlefronts.

1918 And Now

The headlong Nazi retreat from Russia, which now borders on a rout, with disastrous losses in both men and military equipment as well as territory, raises the question of the position of Germany today as compared to her position when she asked for an armistice in 1918.

Is Germany stronger in 1944 than she was in 1918? Or weaker? The comparative facts are interesting—and may afford an index to the confidence of our military leaders that the European war will end in 1944.

When the armistice was signed in 1918, Germany's army, coupled with the troops of her allies, totaled 25,000,000. She had lost about 6,000,000 men, killed or disabled. Today, Germany has an army of about 10,000,000 men—and has lost about 5,000,000 killed and wounded. In 1918, Germany had a front line of about 2000 miles. Now she has more than 15,000 miles to defend. In 1918, Germany had been successful in seeing that the war was waged on the soil of her enemies—and German cities and villages were unscathed. But in 1944, many of Germany's greatest cities are in ruins; millions of her people are homeless—and Allied bombing planes have turned Berlin into a shambles.

Hitler, perhaps, is more fanatical in his determination to fight to the bitter end than was the Kaiser, and the iron hand of Nazi control, over both the army and civilian population, will make revolt harder. But Germany's position, from a military standpoint appears far more desperate than it was when the collapse came in 1918.

Groundhog Day

On February 2, the groundhog is supposed to come out from his winter hibernation and decide if we are going to have a cold or mild spring.

Whether Mr. Groundhog will perform as scheduled, we don't know, but it reminds us that spring is already just around the corner. And once that corner is turned, the 1944 battle of food production will get under way.

Farmers as a whole have stepped up production well beyond that of normal times in order to meet abnormal war demands. The present outlook is that there will be a demand for all they can produce this year. Yet, there is also a possibility of running into surpluses.

Whether the groundhog predicts a cold or a mild spring, it looks like America will have one of her greatest food-producing years of all time this year.

A Secret Weapon

To many of us, laughter may seem difficult in these days. Yet, laughter was never more important to us as individuals or as a nation. It builds morale.

Laughter may not solve problems but it gives us new courage to tackle them. It smooths the troubled waters in many a heart and in many a home. A hearty laugh will give you a lift unequalled by vitamins.

This doesn't mean that we should force a laugh just for the sake of the sound. Nor does it mean that we should assume a silly, frivolous attitude. But every day we should expect to find something of a jolly nature in our experience.

Laughter is really America's secret weapon. Use yours as often as you can and help win the war.

Here and There

by Dean A. G. H. Bode

I HAVE been thinking of something pleasant to write about. And here comes a letter from a seaman on a ship in the harbor of San Pedro, which is very pleasant reading. But first some explanation of the circumstances. . . . It has been for many years the custom of the Seamen's Church Institute at San Pedro to try to reach the seamen on the ships in the harbor with a worthwhile Christmas gift. During almost any month of the year from one to two thousand boxes and magazines have been placed on ocean-going vessels by the same institution. But at Christmas time when men are far from home and family and friends, it is a most welcome surprise to lonely seamen to be thought of and remembered with a token of appreciation and goodwill. The gift is usually something like this: A box containing safety razor and shaving soap, pocket knife, thread and needles with big eyes, buttons, pipe and tobacco, or cigarettes, candy, writing paper and other useful little things. The boxes are made up by the women of some of our churches, probably helped by their husbands. This year more than 800 such boxes were distributed to men on their ships, and to others, all bona fide deep-sea seamen, at a Christmas party ashore. I have witnessed the delight of the men when after being told, "a Christmas present for you," they have untied the string and seen the contents. And one of the letters received from a thoughtful member of the crew of the S.S. Holland in San Pedro will show the keen pleasure given by this little attention.

THE letter follows:

"Dear Sirs:

"This is a letter of appreciation from a crew member of the 'Holland' who was fortunate enough to receive one of your Christmas packages. I'm sure I cannot express sufficiently my many thanks for your generous action. I am sure that my thanks represent those of many, many more who are indeed grateful for your Christmas thought. Not only is the choice of gifts exceedingly appropriate and useful, but there is the warm feeling of knowing that in these times of universal hate and killing there is truly 'peace on earth and good will among men.' As a recent immigrant to the United States my feeling is even deeper in my appreciation of your efforts. It is surely gratifying to know that those who serve the Lord have not forgotten the men of the sea. To you all, thanks again, and a merry Christmas and Happy New Year. May the Lord be with you all. Very sincerely, (ordinary seaman)"

THE writer is glad we have not forgotten the men of the sea. We often sing a hymn for those at sea, but we generally mean our friends who are passengers, who live on the land, not the men who live on the sea. They are often forgotten. And what a nice fellow this seaman must be.

IN my mail a few weeks ago came another pleasant letter about gifts, quoting from a mediaeval book called "Ye Miracles of Ye Seafarers," by an unknown author. The extract is called "Ye Great Astonishment," and deals in a picturesque and imaginative manner with the blessing which comes from helping the needy. Of course we feel today that we should aim so to order affairs that the needy should be able to help themselves—in other words, that there should be no needy, except in some temporary emergency—yet we can admire the warmth of the charity of one living in a former and much different age and in a privileged state who could write beautifully of kindnesses done to man and woman and child and bird and beast, in an earlier and more primitive state of society. This is the interesting passage, with its mediaeval spelling:

"Whoever on ye night of ye nativity of ye young Lord, in ye great snows, shall fare forth bearing a succulent bone for ye lost and lamenting hounde, a wisp of hay for ye shivering horse, a cloak of warm raiment for ye stranded wyf-farer, a bundle of fagots for ye twittering crone, a flagon of red wine for him whose marrow withers, a garland of bright berries for one who has worn chains, gay raiment of lute and harp for all huddled birds who thought that song was dead, and divers lush sweetmeats for such babes faces as peer from lonely windows: To him shall be proffered and returned gifts of such an astonishment as will rival the hues of the peacock and the harmonies of heaven, so that though he live to ye great age when man goes stooping and querulous because of the nothing that is left in him, yet shall he walk upright and remembering, as one whose heart shines like a great star in his breast."

AND talking of gifts to the poor, in another State where I once lived, a group of kind ladies wished to give an Easter gift to the old men of a county farm. After much discussion they decided to give each old man a white carnation, which would be quite costly in that wintry locality. When asked for my opinion, I advised them to substitute cornucopious pipes and sacks of Bull Durham for the carnations. The old men learned of the substitution, and when I joined them as they sat in the sunshine enjoying a comforting smoke, one of them said to me: "We think you shore had on your considerin' cap then." And that was also something pleasant.

America's traffic death toll for 1943 was approximately 23,000. This is a 20 per cent drop from the 1942 toll and is at least 40 per cent under the pre-war 1941 aggregate. It represents a saving of 5000 lives over last year and about 17,000 over 1941. The foregoing estimate is based on actual figures of 20,480 deaths for the first 11 months of the year, projected to include December's estimated toll.

Motor vehicles in some States display paper license plates this year, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California. Processed into cardboard from new white rags, the paper plates have come through preliminary tests with flying colors. Another idea under consideration for the elimination of plates calls for painting numbers permanently on car fenders with windshield stickers to prove payment of State license fees.

Plant crops produced and sold in Los Angeles county in 1943 were valued at $99,073,300, as revealed in the annual crop report issued by Harold J. Ryan, agricultural commissioner. Adding $936,000 for apriary products brought the total to $100,009,300, a new record for the county. This figure represents an increase of $20,333,200 from 1942. Tremendously increased costs of production, however, cut deeply into farmers' net income. Livestock production figures are not included in this report.

Justus Craemer, popular publisher and railroad commissioner, has passed the word to the inner circle that he will be a candidate for U. S. Senator at the fall elections—and that this time, he won't step aside, regardless of the other contenders. In '42, Mr. Craemer had strong backing as a prospective G.O.P. candidate for governor, but skipped his own chance to help Earl Warren. This year Mr. Craemer figures it's his time at bat. And he's modestly confident that he can knock out a homer.

California legislators in the armed forces (and there are a number of them) are wondering whether President Roosevelt's dictum, prohibiting congressmen from being both lawmakers and soldiers, applies to State solons as well. If it does, it will play hob with several political futures. But as yet, no word has come through from Washington.

Outstanding engineers are dissipating those fanciful predictions of the shape of the first post-war automobiles. After canvassing 81 "leading oil and automotive engineers of America," A. T. Colwell, vice-president of Thompson Aircraft Company, announced that people who expect the post-war car to resemble "a combination of crystal ball and a rolling solarium are putting faith in a fairy tale." And Delmar G. Roos, recently told a session of the Society of Automotive Engineers that tear-drop, rear-engine cars made of "super" materials belong to the next decade. Roos, who cooperated with the Army in developing the hard-hitting "jeep," cited these four points as an "engineer's approach" to post-war automobile design: (1) There will be a demand for more efficient vehicles at lower initial cost. (2) Radical changes will be slow in coming. (3) Manufacturers will not gamble their reputations on "futuristic" models which can't stand the hard test of public use. (4) Plastic bodies and curved glass surfaces, in their present form, are unsatisfactory, with the latter as now developed presenting a dangerous handicap to clear vision.

General Henry H. Arnold, chief of the United States Army Air Forces, estimates that 75 per cent of Berlin has been destroyed by bombing. Eventually that city, like Hamburg, may virtually cease to exist. But the destruction of Berlin will not destroy Nazism. Nor will it be exterminated even if every city in the Reich is laid in ruins. This is something for us to bear in mind in connection with post-war Germany. Crushing the German armies, destroying the present government, and putting occupation forces in that country, will not wipe out Hitler's influence. His party will cease to exist legally, but the doctrine he has preached will not be easily eradicated from the minds of the people. More than likely the Nazi organization—minus its present leaders and in a skeleton form—will go underground to await the day when it can again seek power. Many of the young men steeped in Hitler's vile and violent teachings will dream of the day when they can arise, as he did, to atone for the great "injustices" against the fatherland. Here in the United States, two German prisoners of war recently committed suicide. They had been condemned to death by a "kangaroo court" of their fellow prisoners for not being ardent Nazis. Thus the ruthless German element would destroy those of their countrymen who have not been hypnotized by Hitler and his henchmen.

THINGS TO COME—Homes with air-conditioned units that will filter dirt, dust and pollen. Sterilizing lamps that will eliminate bacteria. . . . Electric heating of the soil to force the growth of special or hot-house crops. . . . Railroads using radio, electronic devices to prevent collision, derailment and other accidents. . . . Edible fats derived from coal or petroleum.

What They Say ---

WARREN ATHERTON, Stockton, National Commander American Legion—"We who are fortunate enough to be safe at home should devote 24 hours a day to support our sons who fight for us at the front. The right to strike should be suspended for the duration."

CLARE BOOTHE LUCE, Conn. Representative speaking here—"Economically and politically the whole West, and particularly California, has been utterly ignored in Washington."

CHESTER ROWELL, S. F. servant-writer—"An off-the-record luncheon the other day with an executive of the Chinese central government was so brilliant an exhibition of high scholarship, practical sense and sound experience that one could not but wish that men of the same quality—we have them—might be the spokesmen for American Government also."

American-born Japanese

A German with a short-wave radio who apparently guided the Japanese in their attack on Pearl Harbor. The Americans of Japanese descent, and many Japanese aliens as well, helped in construction crews to rebuild the damage. We have many foremen and Army contractors who are "those damn Japs!" he said.

Stone expressed the opinion that it is chiefly the Japanese who have been in Japan since 1932, when the Manchurian incident enabled the military clique to gain control of the government, who are dangerous to the United States.

"When the military assumed control in 1932 it began a systematic indoctrination of the Japanese against Caucasians. But the Japanese who have come to America came, for the most part, 20 years ago, long before this intensive indoctrination took place."

Suggestion More Effective than Stern Commands in Shaping Lives of Children, PTA is Told

"Child Management; do we lead them or do they lead us?" was the challenging topic of discussion at the meeting of the P.T.A. held in the school cafeteria last Thursday.

Mrs. Seymour Johnson, the speaker, reminded her hearers that good leadership leads the child into right doing and thinking less by command and direct criticism and more by cooperation, patience and self control. She advised "waiting for that right time" to get over an idea, to talk things over with a child, and stressed the value of asking the child's reasons for thinking and doing, even seeking his advice on occasion. It is vital that parents be good leaders, particularly mothers, and like all the arts, this requires much thought, self study, and a growing understanding of children.

"Surely," Mrs. Johnson emphasized, "this is the most important job a mother can do—to wisely lead her child, so that when he must stand on his own feet, he will have within himself all the moral and spiritual strength he needs to meet his problems."

The attendance was good, with a "generous representation" of parents to the city. Interest was stimulated in the formation of a parent education study group and the reading of recommended books on psychology pertinent to all phases of child guidance. Parents are requested to leave their names at the school if they are interested in attending a study class, which would meet before the regular monthly meeting, to economize time and transportation.
